

The college was a small one tucked in anonymity. The academic performance of students lacks brilliance and the fiscal situation of the institution and financial credibility of the students fail to match the shining prospects of many colleges in and around the City; yet we believe that, the indomitable team spirit of the staff could beat magnanimous challenges and create wonders .We aim to empower young women of the college academically, economically and socially. Multifarious courses offered to students to choose in accordance to their aptitude. Along with hardcore academic courses measure has been taken to impart professional training too.

Communicative English and computer literacy courses offered to hone the student skill and prepare them for the job market. Certificate course in Pharmaceutical Engineering, Biotechnology through collaboration with GNIPST is already in vogue. The college authority has started taking appropriate steps to run the course by using its own resources, so that the students can avail of this facility, free of cost; in order to ensure access of all students into the domain of skill enhancement courses, the college authority is planning to involve its own resources more judiciously. The college with the help of its retired faculties(‘BANDHAN SCHEME’) is planning to introduce more academic programmes for its students at minimum cost to make them academically stronger and socially empowered .

One very special and distinctive feature of the college is its regular Yoga classes for students. This not only improves their physical fitness but also increases their concentration power. Ours is perhaps one college in West Bengal that has translated Yoga into a regular exercise for all students, which runs with the approval of the affiliating university. Besides we have an NSS and NCC unit engaged in diverse activities catering either to build their academic, economic or social acumen. Their commendable service in our adopted slum, not only teaches them to be a responsible citizen and soldier of the nation, but also attempts to build a strong bond between the college and the community. We aim to facilitate sustainable development among women of our society.

Last but not the least the addition of Women’s Study as course curriculum has completed the circle of making women learn to be real and empower themselves from within; to recognize their rights and celebrate their identity, this is the only college under West Bengal State University, which has started this course. We aim to equip our students and make them strong enough to fight the external world fraught with challenges. We are bent on making each of our students economically ,socially and academically strong enough so that they could lead a life of dignity and responsibility.

The college tirelessly takes effort for career and placement for its students keeping in view the need for their financial empowerment.

The college is planning to initiate Self Defense training course for its students to empower them from within, as well as to enable them to learn to fight against external vulnerability.
